At present, the BRICS countries control access to the vast majority of REM reserves, which are critical for defence & high-tech applications.

The West's access to REM reserves is limited, posing a significant risk in the global tech race.

Ukraine's ample REM reserves could significantly diversify the West's access (Scenario 1) or strengthen the BRICS' dominant position, their resource control (Scenario 2).
